MINOT-SLEEPER LIBRARY—REPORT OF TRUSTEES

The continued increase in the circulation of books in this library is most encouraging. Another matter of importance which should be noted here with appreciation is the bequest of $200 from the estate of Mrs. Georgianna Tilton. Such gifts mean much, not only to the trustees but to all patrons of the library.

This year we have placed on our shelves all books by Dr. Fred Lewis Pattee, which we did not previously have. In this effort we are deeply indebted to Dr. Pattee for the gift of four autographed copies—"Compelled Men;" "Beyond the Sunset," which is a book of his poems; "American Writers," a series of papers contributed to Blackwood's Magazine, 1824-1825, by John Neal, edited with notes and bibliography by Dr. Pattee; and "The New American Literature 1890-1930." The autographs inscribed on the title pages are "To my birthplace, Bristol, I inscribe this copy of my book."

We also acknowledge with gratitude the generous gift by General John McAuley Palmer of his book "General von Steuben."

In the columns of the Enterprise we have published from time to time lists of books acquired for this library. In the selection of these books it has been the aim of your trustees to place upon the library shelves the most worthwhile publications which the book funds will allow and to provide interesting and educational reading not only for adults but for the young people and children. The committee always welcomes suggestions of books which are desired.

Miss Mary A. Rogers, the librarian, has graciously served the reading public as in former years. In June she attended the neighborhood library meeting in Holderness and in September the New Hampshire Library Association meeting in New London.

Miss Rogers' report shows the requests for books from the state library have nearly doubled during the year, and encouragement is given to all to avail themselves of this privilege. The library, she feels, continues to be a sort of community center for out-of-town and summer people.

Five traveling libraries from the Public Library Commission for rural teachers have been handled.

An increase in the circulation of books is seen each year. The total circulation the past year was 23,571, as against 22,415 the preceding year; when the increase was 1,495. This increase is seen in each department. The adult fiction taken out the past year was 16,061; non-fiction, 2,388; junior fiction, 3,837; junior non-fiction, 1,285. Fines collected amounted to $43, and one set of Bristol Histories was sold for $5.

This library is unusually fortunate in its excellent supply of magazines, made possible through the Minnie Maria Day-Jackman Fund. The large patronage indicates clearly a wide appreciation of the privileges here. Magazines are now circulated in the homes as are the books. We are proud of the list of those magazines which are to be found on our tables, as follows: Atlantic, American, American Boy, American Girl, American Forest, Among the Deep Sea Fishers, Better Homes & Gardens, Child Life, Clubwoman, Christian Century, Cosmopolitan, Dumb Animals, D. A. R., Embroideress, Field & Stream, Flower Grower, Good Housekeeping, Harpers, Hunting & Fishing, Ladies' Home Journal, Literary Digest, National Geographic, Home Arts Needlecraft, Popular Science, Popular Mechanics, Readers' Digest, Scribners, St. Nicholas, School Art, Scientific American, Radio and Modern Mechanics and Inventions, Christian Herald, Pictorial Review, Nature, Boys' Life, Open Road for Boys.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board of Bristol:

I submit herewith my report as superintendent of schools.

Schools opened Sept. 7, 1937, with three changes in the teaching force. Miss Helen E. Martin, a graduate of Plymouth Normal School, Class of 1935, was placed in the seventh grade, taking the place of Miss Natalie Blake who resigned to be married. Miss Martin has had two years' successful experience in Grafton. Miss Lillian Christensen, a graduate of Boston Teachers' College, and Miss Olive Abbott were appointed to fill vacancies in the High School caused by the resignation of Miss Maynard and Mrs. Merrill. Both have had a year's experience in teaching in New Hampshire schools.

Attendance tables, based on the registers for 1936-37, show that in the elementary village schools 214 pupils were registered, that there were in attendance each day 178.4, that 11.8 pupils were absent each day, and that the average membership was 189.2, making the per cent of attendance 94.8. I call this very good. The tardy record was small: .7 per pupil. The record further shows that 145 parents and citizens visited the school and saw the pupils at work.

At the Dolloff school, the tardy record and per cent of attendance was also very good.

The registration of the High School reached 151. The average daily attendance was 135.6, the tardy record low, and the per cent of attendance high.

Because of the change in teachers, a slight change was made in subject assignment. All the English was given to one teacher, and the so-called Social Science subjects were treated in the same way. The Seniors and Juniors were combined in one science class, Chemistry being offered in 1937-38, and Physics in 1938-39. If necessary this group can be handled in two divisions.

On Dec. 22 of the present year, 289 pupils were registered in the Bristol schools in all departments. The attendance from the opening of school to that date was very good, being 96.7. There had been only 71 cases of tardiness, and in the Dolloff school no pupil had been late.

Education Week was observed, as last year, with a night session at the high school, and an exhibit in the town hall. Both of these were very well attended.

Constant effort is being made to keep up with the times and the best educational practices. The teachers are alert and most eager to co-operate in changes of method that seem advisable.

The Social Science books were placed in the seventh grade this year. These are now in use in both the seventh and eighth grades. This series correlates geography, history, and civics in two texts each year. It proved very successful in the eighth grade last year and is achieving the same results in the seventh grade. A similar set by the same author, written for pupils of fifth grade level, has been placed in that grade.

Much interest, just at the present time, is being shown in skiing. Instruction along this line is being given by some of the instructors connected with the Proctor Ski School. Many school systems now are looking toward the physical development of its pupils. One cannot predict how long it will be before Bristol will have a physical director whose principal job will be looking after the physical development of all the pupils from the first grade up through the high school.

The future holds much in store for Bristol schools. Is it too much to hope that in the expanding of the present school system one may see in the high school courses of a practical nature for its boys and girls: home making for the girls, shop work for the boys, an auditorium-gymnasium, and a physical director whose whole time shall be devoted to the physical development of all the pupils?

Bristol is to be congratulated upon its teachers. They are ever on the job, and rendering a real service.

I thank the board for the help it gives me. The problems are many. The burden is made light by the interest it takes.

EARL P. FREESE, Supt. of Schools.
